

Attorney General Accused

Alabaman Is Served
Fugitive Warrant
Charging He Killed
Albert L. Patterson

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Alabama's attorney general, Silas Garrett III, today was served with a fugitive warrant charging he killed Albert L. Patterson, attorney general elect of Alabama.

Garrett is being treated for a mental and physical condition at a hospital here.

Galveston County Sheriff O. E. Henson served the fugitive warrant.

Jules Damiani, first assistant Galveston County attorney, said the fugitive warrant charged Garrett "unlawfully and with malice aforethought killed Albert L. Patterson by shooting him with a gun."

Serving of the warrant on Garrett had been expected since Saturday. It had to wait pending the arrival from Alabama of a certified copy of the indictment against him.

Doctors at the hospital where Garrett is being treated have said he is too sick to be moved.

Garrett is a central figure in the notorious Phenix City, Ala., clean-up.

Patterson, who crusaded against vice, in his election campaign, was killed last June 18.

Two other persons are under arrest in connection with the slaying. They are a former chief deputy sheriff, Albert Fuller, and a suspended prosecuting attorney, Arch Ferrell.

Garrett could not be contacted personally to find out if he would waive extradition to Alabama. His Galveston attorney, E. H. Thornton Jr., was also unavailable for comment.

Serving of the fugitive warrant put Garrett technically in the custody of the sheriff here.

If Garrett refuses to waive extradition, proceedings to have him extradited will have to be initiated in Alabama.

Asst. Galveston County Atty. Jack Callahan said Sheriff Lamar Murphy of Russell County, Ala., was refused a fugitive warrant Saturday because he lacked a certified copy of the indictment. Callahan said he understood the copy is coming by plane.

Two persons are under arrest in the murder last June 18 of the nominee for Alabama attorney general, Albert L. Patterson, who crusaded against vice. They are a former chief deputy sheriff, Albert Fuller, and a suspended prosecuting attorney, Arch Ferrell.

A third indictment was returned in the case, but the name of the accused person won't be disclosed until he is arrested.

Callahan refused to say what the Alabama indictment charges. He said that Alabama state law forbids making public the name of an indicted man before he is arrested and "it is up to the Alabama officers to say."

The Alabama officers were close-mouthed.

Sheriff Murphy said he merely was in Galveston on a "pleasure trip." The men who were with him declined to give their names.

They told the Galveston Daily News that they expected to make an extradition as soon as the indictment copy arrived.

A lawyer told the Galveston News that if Garrett refused to waive extradition the governor of Alabama must ask the governor of Texas to release him. The lawyer added, "The whole process might take 30 days."

The News said the Alabama officers visited John Sealy Hospital Saturday and were told Garrett must remain in the hospital indefinitely for treatment of "a mental and physical condition."

Garrett also has been indicted for vote fraud in connection with the Democratic runoff in which Patterson was elected. The slain attorney's son was elected to the post without opposition.

TWO SAFE CRACKERS CAPTURED — Don Fales, 23, (left) hangs his head and Clarence Lester Sidebottom, 23, stares away as they were photographed a few minutes after being compelled to jump from the roof of the Green Pastures, early Sunday morning by Night Chief of Police Ted Gardner. They had been in the Green Pastures, according to the police, where they attempted to "crack" a safe. Officers in the photograph are left to right: Lester Williams, holding Fales, James Reeves, holding Sidebottom, and looking over his shoulder is officer E. A. Thomas, who found the men in the place while making his regular check of business houses and had other police called. James Clifford is next, and Night Chief Gardner on the right. (Staff Photo)

Police Catch Two Burglars Ransacking 'Green Pastures'

Quick thinking on the part of Officer E. A. Thomas, at 2:26 a. m. Sunday, resulted in the apprehension of two men believed to have been attempting to "crack" a safe in the Green Pastures, 214 East Third. The men identified themselves as Clarence Lester Sidebottom and Dan Fales, both 23, and both from Kansas City.

Officer Thomas was making his usual rounds of the business houses, checking doors and windows. He approached the Green Pastures, shaking the front door, then went around to the east side and shook that door. But when he reached for a back door, he noted the lock was off.

Taking hold of the door easily he pulled it back just enough to see two men crawling around on the floor near a bar. He eased the door shut, hurriedly and quietly slipped back around to the City Cab office in the old Sedalia Theatre Building, next door and told them to call the police for help.

Thomas then rushed back to the door, taking guard behind the brick wall of a room attached to the building, keeping the door in sight at all times and also the roof. "I hadn't anymore than gotten back to my place than police were all over the place," Thomas explained.

A radio dispatch and calling to police in the station sent all three patrol cars on the run as well as a newspaper reporter's car. Two patrol cars went to the front, the reporter's car whipped into the back, flooding the back with car lights, and the patrol car pulled up next to it.

Officer John Fair jumped from his car in front of the place and started around in back to back up Thomas, accompanied by S/Sgt. Floyd Whipple of the SAFE Air Force town patrol, and looking through a side window, he was face to face with Sidebottom, who dropped to the floor and disappeared. Fair went on to the back.

Night Chief of Police T. F. "Ted" Gardner, in getting out of the patrol car at the rear of the building, noticed movement on the roof of the building. Drawing his gun and spotting them with his flashlight, he called out "come on down or take a 38 in your head," and one of the men said, "yes, sir, we'll come down."

The two stood up and walked over to a lower portion of the roof and jumped to the ground. They were lined against a brick wall with their hands against the wall.

We Present a Series Of Articles on New Traffic Ordinance

Beginning today, The Democrat-Capital will offer a series of five articles giving the essential contents of the city's new traffic ordinance. It is suggested these articles be clipped out and saved by drivers and pedestrians alike so that they may become acquainted with the new laws.

Nation Heads For Big Test On S-D Day

Will Try to Go 24 Hours Without Any Traffic Accidents

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's mobile millions today headed for an extraordinary test of their ability to drive and walk safely for 24 hours.

The test comes Wednesday. It has been designated Safe Driving Day.

Motorists and pedestrians in communities across the country are being alerted by newspaper stories, radio broadcasts, modern parades, posters and handbills.

President Eisenhower proclaimed S-D Day. It is sponsored by the President's Action Committee for Highway Safety.

The purpose is to reduce traffic accidents greatly to show that it can be done. The reduction has not been specified. The goal, at least, is a big slash and, at best, no accidents at all.

The committee has let each community make its own how-to-do-it arrangements. Some seem to be doing very little. Others are making a major event of it. There never has been anything quite like it.

Many cities have challenged other cities to S-D Day contests. Thousands of bumper stickers and stickers have been distributed.

Plans have been made to ring church bells, voice "Be careful" pleas through loud-speakers—even to pause and pray.

An Associated Press survey shows what many communities have done and plan to do.

Washington, D. C., put on a parade of wrecked cars and 46 caskets, each representing a 1954 traffic fatality in the District of Columbia.

Cars equipped with amplifiers are touring the Seattle area, spreading the safety gospel.

Traffic officials in San Diego, Calif., circulated 100,000 safe driving pledges and arranged a parade of crash-crumbled autos for today.

School kids brought home safety letters in Providence, R. I. Literature is being distributed through schools in Kansas. Truck and bus stickers and 10,000 arm bands have been issued in Miami, Fla.

Reminders in poster, bumper strip or leaflet form have been passed out in Madison, Wis., Rochester, N. Y., and Norfolk, Va.

New Mexico and Arizona will have a special low-stake-wins show-down.

Rivalry of the sort associated with football has sprung up among cities. Knoxville, Tenn., challenged Chattanooga, Tenn., to an S-D Day contest.

Seattle challenged Portland, Ore. Tampa, Fla., challenged Miami, Jacksonville and St. Petersburg.

Sedalia's Get Chance To Host the Airmen At Christmas Dinners

Families in this area are being given an opportunity to make this Christmas a real Christmas for airmen stationed at the Sedalia Air Force Base and who are not going home for the holiday season.

A program is now underway where families may "adopt" men from the base and invite them to their homes for Christmas dinner.

Families wishing to have an airman as their guest on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day may call the Sedalia Democrat news room, which in turn will forward the invitations to the air base. The churches and the Red Cross office are also collecting the invitations.

AEC Chairman-to-Be Says New Congress May Direct Action If Terms Not Eased

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Sen. Clinton P. Anderson said today that the new Congress may direct the Atomic Energy Commission to cancel the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract unless the agreement is "again very substantially modified."

Sen. Anderson, scheduled to become chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, made the prediction in a letter to Ralph H. Demmler, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

In the letter Anderson asked that Demmler urge the commission to withhold its approval of the proposed Dixon-Yates financing plan until the joint committee has a chance to take another look at the over-all contract.

The contract was signed in November, subject to SEC approval of financing arrangements and the proposed sale of capital stock.

Anderson said the modifications of the original contract, embodied in the document signed a few weeks ago, were definite improvements. However, he urged the SEC to examine certain other portions of the contract which he said have not been settled and which should be corrected before investors are permitted to put up any money.

"I believe," Anderson said, "that if this contract is not again very substantially modified by the time Congress resumes on Jan. 5, there may shortly be introduced into the Congress a concurrent resolution insisting that the AEC avail itself of provisions of a letter which has been agreed upon by the AEC and the Mississippi Valley Generating Co."

The letter provides that either party may terminate the agreement without cost if the SEC has not approved the financing arrangements by Feb. 15.

Anderson said it is an SEC obligation "to see that 100 million dollars worth of bonds and other securities are not now floated on the market and . . . later a contention (made) that we should let this contract stand in order to protect these bond holders."

Pettis Court Provides Gifts For Hospitalized

There were four people in the state hospital at St. Joseph from Pettis County who would not have Christmas gifts this year, that is unless somebody did something for them. This word came from the hospital to the Pettis County Court and so the court got busy.

The court furnished the money for Christmas gifts for the four, some colored, some white, from their county.

Gifts were purchased. Personal needs were provided for the women, such as face powder, other cosmetics and things a woman would like. For one woman a string of red beads were among the things she wanted, and that was one of the gifts included in her box.

For the men were red handkerchiefs, pipes and other things they would like, and for one of them a cap. He wears a cap day and night and the person sending the list of things that might be included in the gift packages mentioned the cap, which he would like very much.

Each gift was attractively wrapped in pretty Christmas paper and tied with bright ribbon. Then all the gifts for each person were put in a box with a card from the Pettis County Court, and the box was addressed to the person for whom the gifts had been purchased and mailed to the state hospital in St. Joseph.

Two extension courses being sponsored by the Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, will begin Jan. 10 at Smith-Cotton High School, in accounting and public speaking. College credit of three hours each will be given for them.

Already a number of Sedalians and people from the Sedalia Air Force Base have enrolled.

The classes will be held every Monday and Thursday from 7:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. for 12 weeks. The accounting course will be taught by Mrs. Bernice Close, Green Ridge, and the public speaking course by Uncus McGuire, superintendent of schools at Nelson.

Sedalia Residents Prepare Decorations In Yule Contest

The man, dressed for the cold day, even to his ear muffs, was putting up his outdoor decorations and enjoying it. He would get some of the decorations in place and then back off and look at them to see how it was going to look. Everything had to be just so. He had entered the Home Decoration Contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and was working to get those outdoor decorations up.

Many of the homes are already decorated and there are a number of pretty ones that have not been entered in the contest. The Chamber of Commerce would like to have those who have gone to all the trouble of putting up such nice decorations to enter the contest. There are several reasons. First, they are anxious to make this contest a success. Second, it would be nice to be awarded a prize and some who think they wouldn't stand a chance might be surprised to find themselves among the winners. Third, everybody likes to drive around and see the decorations and having them listed in the contest would give those driving around an idea where to drive.

To enter, blanks that have appeared in The Sedalia Democrat may be filled out and mailed in, blanks may be secured at the Chamber of Commerce office, 113 East Fourth, or anyone wanting to enter by telephone may call the Chamber of Commerce office, telephone 895, and the blank will be filled out for them by a member of the Chamber staff and entered in the contest. Entries must be mailed in by Dec. 19, since the contest will close on Dec. 20. Judging will be done either Dec. 22 or Dec. 23, with winners to be announced on Christmas Eve.

There are two classes of entries, indoor and outdoor. The indoor entries must be something that can be seen from the outside. It would be impossible for the judges to go inside the homes to judge and, of course, the idea is also that other people may enjoy the decorations by driving by the

Rejects Plan to Halt Execution of Woman Convicted of Murder

LONDON (AP) — Home Secretary Gwilym Lloyd-George today rejected a plea to halt the execution on Wednesday of a 53-year-old woman convicted of strangling her daughter-in-law. The condemned woman, Mrs. Styllou Christofi, will be the 13th female to be hanged in Britain since 1900.

She was sentenced to death on Oct. 28 for the scarf murder of Hella Dorothea, 36. The slayer who came here from Cyprus, tried to burn the body after pouring kerosene over it.

The last woman to go to the scaffold in London was Mrs. Edith Thompson, hanged in 1923 for the murder of her husband. The last woman hanged in Britain was Mrs. Louisa Merrifield at Manchester 15 months ago.

Several women found guilty of murder since 1923 have been reprieved.

Eisenhower Decides On Postponement Of April Tax Cut

This Is Announced by One of GOP Leaders Taking Part In Confab Conducted Today at White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican congressional leader said today the administration has decided to ask a postponement of corporate and excise tax cuts now scheduled to go into effect next April 1.

The GOP leader, who asked not to be quoted by name, was one of those attending an all-day conference between President Eisenhower and Republican congressional leaders on the administration's program for the next session.

The decision to extend present tax rates had been generally expected but this was the first statement by anyone in authority that it had been decided upon.

The now-scheduled tax cuts would cost the Treasury some three billion dollars a year.

The Republican official said more time was devoted to taxes and the fiscal situation generally at this morning's session of the all-day meeting than to any other topic.

The White House session dealt with foreign as well as domestic issues, with Secretary of State Dulles briefing the GOP leaders for 45 minutes on international affairs.

A White House statement on today's meeting was to be issued later in the day.

The foreign policy phase of the discussions came somewhat as a surprise. Eisenhower had indicated in advance—though he did not say so specifically—the meeting would deal with domestic issues.

In announcing plans for the meeting at his news conference last Wednesday, the President also said he intended to confer with the Democrats on domestic issues.

Since then the White House has placed less emphasis on that phase of the program.

An hour and a half after the start of today's meeting with the Republican leaders, Secretary of State Dulles left the White House and told newsmen he had just spent 45 minutes briefing the GOP chiefs on foreign affairs. He declined to provide any details.

In response to questions, Dulles said Secretary of Defense Wilson took over as the speaker when he left.

Republican Senate Leader Knowland of California, who has split with the administration on some foreign policy questions, said in advance of today's meeting he expected its scope would be limited mainly to domestic issues.

Knowland also said legislative proposals put forward by the President may determine whether the GOP wins or loses in 1956.

Eisenhower was expected to repeat some of the rejected or never-acted-on proposals he made to the GOP-dominated 83rd Congress.

Rep. Bolling (D-Mo.) said yesterday he expects the Democratic-controlled Congress to move toward revising the administration's 1954 tax revision program so as "to spread the benefits of tax relief to a much broader mass of people." But Rep. Keating (R-NY), debating with Bolling on an NBC television program, said he thinks the Democrats will wait to move on taxes until 1956, "which is an election year."

The two House members agreed that there is likely to be little general disagreement on foreign policy.

Davies Advises Diplomats To Have 2nd Skill

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Paton Davies Jr., fired after 23 years as a career diplomat, says he hopes young men will keep on going into the foreign service. But he advised them to learn a second trade to fall back on.

Davies spoke out yesterday during an NBC television interview. The 46-year-old former diplomat was fired Nov. 5 by Secretary of State Dulles as a security—but not a loyalty—risk.

There is no job security in U.S. diplomacy, he said yesterday, and any young man entering the foreign service today would be prudent to have another trade in reserve.

Davies lost not only his job but also his pension rights. He has coming to him, however, about $14,000 in back pay, unused leave and pension contributions plus interest. This has not yet been paid him pending settlement of a disagreement over his signing a routine check-out form which he contends would prevent him from public discussion of his case.

In his TV interview, Davies said he could make no real argument against his firing without reviewing his whole life, since "the judgment was on me as a person." As an alternative, he suggested again that the whole record of his case be made public.

Dulles has said it would not be in the national interest to make the record public at this time. Davies had been cleared in eight previous loyalty-security investigations, but Dulles agreed with the newest hearing board that Davies had shown a lack of judgment, discretion and reliability. The finding did not question Davies' loyalty.

Also interviewed on the TV program with Davies yesterday were Patrick J. Hurley, former ambassador to China, and Henry W. Wriston, who headed a committee which recommended reorganization of the State Department and foreign service.

Both Hurley and Wriston said they thought the foreign service offered a bright future for college graduates. But Davies' views differed. Davies said personal job security was practically nil because of too many reorganizations, the development of domestic subversion as a political issue and the use in combating subversion of measures "dubiously grounded in American tradition."

In New York, meantime, the American Civil Liberties Union protested that Davies' dismissal might produce "a conformity of thought" and "impair our foreign policy."

Supreme Court Gives Condemned Man New Hope

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Missouri Supreme Court gave Samuel Norbert Reese, condemned St. Louis killer, new hope for life today. It ordered a new trial of the charge that he shot John E. Krieger, St. Louis hotel clerk, Nov. 15, 1951.

Reese was convicted of shooting Krieger when he and Dillard Wren tried to hold up the Windsor Hotel, 4209 Lindell Blvd. For months Reese has lived in the shadow of the gas chamber while waiting in death row at the state penitentiary for his appeal to be decided.

The Supreme Court granted the new trial today on the grounds the state prejudiced the jury by presenting evidence that Reese and Wren were involved in a liquor store holdup attempt later on the night of the slaying. The court said the state went too far in presenting details of the liquor store holdup.

In another opinion the high court held that the St. Louis County Council had no right to interfere with orders from the County Election Board to buy a certain type of voting machine. The court ordered the council to go ahead and perform its purely ministerial duty of buying the kind of machines approved by the election board.

Four Teachers Stay Home After Encounter With Skunk Talent

OCOQUAN, Va. (AP)—Any shortage of teachers in Prince William County high school today can be blamed on a skunk, or skunks.

One or more of them were called away from a morning school session where five teachers live. As a result, at least four of them expected to remain home today. "We've sent our clothes to the cleaners," Richard McMaster, one of the four explained. He said the fifth, Joseph Patterson, may venture out—if high school pupils are agreeable.

McMaster said the skunk—or skunks—got under the house and left olfactory calling cards in some quarters one could get a whiff of suspicion that high school pupils might have had something to do with the odoriferous affair.

Woman Is Stabbed After She Spurns Reconciliation Offer

CHICAGO (AP)—A mother of four was stabbed and seriously wounded yesterday, police said, after spurning a reconciliation with her estranged husband.

Police quoted the husband, Lacey Daniels, 47, as saying, "I hope she dies."

Daniels was held without charge. He was disarmed by other patrons of a North Side tavern, where police said he had pleaded for reconciliation with his wife Lucille, 33.

Japan's Red Leaders Are In China Now After 4-Year Mystery

TOKYO (AP)—The two top leaders of the Japanese Communist party, missing four years, are in Red China, Kyodo News Service reported today.

The agency identified them as Sanzo Nosaka and his No. 2 man, Kiyoko Tokuda.

They disappeared with seven other Communist leaders after 24 party members were purged on orders of the occupation in June 1950.

Two of the seven—Shoichi Kasuga and San-Eki Matsumoto—subsequently were arrested. Kyodo said the Tokyo Metropolitan Police Board is convinced the remaining five still are in Japan.

Attorneys Try To Clean Name Of Lattimore

WASHINGTON (AP)—Owen Lattimore's attorneys sought in court arguments today to knock out a new two-count indictment against the controversial Far Eastern specialist.

They contended in advance briefs that "the sole issue . . . would be Lattimore's opinion of his opinions," but U. S. Dist. Atty. Leo A. Rover replied that the legal attack on the indictment "can be reduced to an objection to the mere fact that he was indicted."

The hearing sent Rover over more before Dist. Judge Luther W. Youngdahl, whom he had accused earlier in an affidavit of having "a fixed personal bias and prejudice" in favor of Lattimore and against the government.

Youngdahl struck Rover's affidavit and refused to disqualify himself from hearing the case.

The new indictment alleges that Lattimore lied when he told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee in 1952 that he (1) had never been a follower of the Communist line and (2) had never been a promoter of Communist interests.

It was returned after Judge Youngdahl had dismissed as too vague the key count of an earlier indictment which charged that Lattimore lied in Red causes. The U. S. Court of Appeals upheld the dismissal by an 8-1 vote, but reinstated two other counts which Youngdahl had thrown out.

Burglary

to the building. It was reported two men were seen to run from the alley just before the police cars arrived and they went north to Second and east. A search of the neighborhood revealed no trace of the men.

Both denied anyone else was with them. Sidebottom's car, a 1946 Plymouth sedan, was found parked on Massachusetts, and was taken to police headquarters and released to his wife Sunday afternoon.

Sidebottom gave his address as 1512 Maude, Kansas City, Mo., while Fales gave his address as 7306 Truman Road, Kansas City, and also 2103 Ave. K, Council Bluffs, Ia. According to information given local police Fales is a brother-in-law of Sidebottom.

Officers who took part in the roundup other than those mentioned were James Clifford, John W. Reeves, Bob Carver and Lester Williams. Air Patrol from the S.A.F.B. were S/Sgt. Floyd Whipple and A/2c Patrick Ryan.

After the two men had been taken to police headquarters and questioned, officers started resuming their patrol. At 4:30 a. m. officers Clifford and Fales spotted a black Buick sedan with three men in it at about Broadway and Park and chased them as far as Dresden, where the car turned north and eluded the police car, which hit top speeds of about 80 miles per hour.

A description of the car was obtained and it was thought this trio might have had some connection with the two men held for the robbery.

Entrance to the Green Pastures was gained when a window in an upstairs room was knocked out. The men then went down a stairway, where a bar across the door was forced and the door opened.

It was apparent the thieves arranged for a double get-away exit, as they pried off a lock on the back door from the outside, and upon failing to get in went over the roof. But inside they forced the latches holding the door on the inside and had it ready to use if the opportunity came—but it didn't.

Inside the men had a satchel filled with tools which could be used to work on a safe. There was a hammer, weighted with a lead knob which was used to knock the combination from the safe, a hand sledge, three iron wedges, one cold chisel and a screw driver. Both men wore gloves which they jerked from their hands as they were apprehended and threw to the ground.

When Officer P. A. Franklin searched the automobile, a Federal Reserve money sack of Kansas City, Mo., No. 3, was found under the front seat along with a pair of brass knuckles for each hand. They were home made knuckles. A check is being made to ascertain if this sack could have been taken in some other robbery around Kansas City.

Charges of burglary have been filed against the pair by James E. Durley, acting prosecuting attorney for Harold Barwick, who was out of the city on business Monday. The charges were filed in Magistrate Court before acting Magistrate George Miller.

Bonds were set at $4,000 each. The two were held in the city jail from Sunday morning until Monday afternoon, when they were transferred to the Pettis County jail and locked in "Big Four," the inside cage.

ONE KILLED IN THIS CAR — Sgt. E. W. Vanwinkle of the State Highway Patrol is checking a Plymouth sedan which A/2c Jack D. Davis, 21, of the Sedalia Air Force Base, was driving at the time of a fatal accident Saturday night on West 16th (Highway 50 Detour). Davis was catapulted nearly 60 feet from the car and suffered fatal injuries. He died at the Bothwell Hospital a few minutes after arrival. (Staff photo)

Knowland Says Talk on Rules Is Certain

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Knowland said today proposed changes in rules for Senate investigating committees "undoubtedly will be taken up" early in the next session of Congress.

He said in an interview there appears to be a general feeling among senators that "some rules changes are necessary and desirable."

Various proposals to establish "a code of fair procedures" for investigating committees were offered during the past session of Congress, but no action was taken on them.

In part they grew out of the McCarthy-Army row and other controversies revolving around Sen. McCarthy's handling of the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Democrats will control the new Congress, and Knowland said it will take "a high degree of cooperation" between the parties to effect any rules changes.

But he said that if this is achieved and if the subject is taken up early enough, he believed rules changes could be adopted. He did not commit himself to any specific changes.

The special bipartisan committee which recommended censure of McCarthy also urged four rules changes which it said would have prevented "much of the criticism against investigative committee hearings."

A Senate Rules subcommittee under the chairmanship of Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) held extensive hearings earlier in the year on proposals for fair investigating procedures. Jenner said several weeks ago a report would be ready by the time the new Congress convenes.

The Senate Republican Policy Committee drafted last spring suggested changes in rules which some Senate committees adopted voluntarily.

While not spelling out details, Knowland said a code of fair procedures should deal with the rights of witnesses, methods of issuing subpoenas, hearing practices, and television and broadcasting problems.

Family Enjoys Pacific Voyage, Will Continue

HONOLULU (AP)—Amazed to hear they had been reported missing on their 48-day sailing to Japan, Dr. Earl L. Reynolds and his family are so pleased over the trip that they plan to continue around the world.

The 44-year-old U.S. atomic scientist had never sailed in deep water before he set out from Takamatsu, Japan, Oct. 26 in the 50-foot yacht Phoenix. Aboard were his wife, Barbara, two children, Jessica, 10, and Ted, 16, and three Japanese amateur crewmen.

They arrived here Saturday. Dr. Reynolds, who was an anthropologist with the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission at Hiroshima, said they skirted two typhoons, weathered winter gales, but had good sailing weather, most of the time for their two-masted ketch.

The Japanese Coast Guard had been trying to locate the yacht and there was some fear that it was lost. It had no radio transmitter although it had two receivers to pick up weather information.

The ketch will remain in Hawaii about three months. Then the scientist, who comes from Yellow Springs, Ohio, and his family will sail the Phoenix to Australia. From there they plan to cross the Indian Ocean, round the Cape of Good Hope, follow the coast of South America northward and visit the United States, then go through the Panama Canal and across the Pacific back to Japan.

"I estimate the entire voyage will take about three years," Reynolds says.

OUR SINCERE APOLOGIES

During the past two weeks of heavy Christmas shopping, we have in some instances been unable to render the usual personal attention which has made our variety store the most popular in Central Missouri.

Of course our large home-owned variety store is self-service and our customers enjoy looking at the colorful and quality merchandise in our stocks. We do not employ "commission clerks to hound prospective buyers," because we feel that Central Missourians know what they want . . .

Our regular customers generally know where to find the goods they wish to inspect.

But to newcomers (especially members of the Sedalia Air Force Base) who are not acquainted with our quality merchandise, our arrangement for display, etc., etc., we are always ready to render any necessary additional help.

May we reiterate that during this busy season, we may not always be able to serve shoppers as quickly as we do in normal shopping days, but we are on the job eleven hours and fifty minutes each day to do our very best to serve you.

Please bear with us and let's all make Christmas shopping a real pleasure . . . When we are tempted to scowl, let's grin! Gosh folks, if we can't do this at Christmas time . . . what is the use of celebrating Christmas?

P. S. Sedalia, Missouri, your home town of which many back in the thirties said: "We will live to see grass grow up in the streets," will be 100 years old in 1957. We don't know where the grass could grow in the streets if it wanted to with so many cars parked . . .

Sedalia's centennial should be celebrated with events more picturesque and more extensive than our State Fair. Sedalia has a rich historical background . . . Few citizens of "Sed-ville" have paused long enough to explore this colorful past and they have missed part of the real joy of living in the best city in these 48 states.

What say, Sedalians, do we really celebrate in 1957 and rock the state and middlewest . . . or are we still listening to those same few souls who yet predict growing grass in the streets?

It's time now to begin planning!

Merry-Go-Round To Study Uranium Resources

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — This is the season when congressmen would junket go, and this year they are setting a high-water for congressional pilgrimages—11 in all.

Some of these junkets are definitely helpful in getting congressmen oriented regarding the far-flung problems they have to legislate on these days; some are pure waste of the taxpayers' money.

Most inexcusable trip of the current rash of junkets is being taken by part of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee—supposedly to study the raw material sources for the atom bomb—uranium. Just what a group of fast-flying congressmen, plus two wives and a sister-in-law, will be able to learn about uranium by hitting the high spots of New Zealand, Australia, India, Egypt and Europe is hard to understand.

However, Senator Bricker of Ohio, Republican, heads this subcommittee with Congressman Sterling Cole, New York Republican, also along, plus his wife; with Congressman James Van Zandt, Pennsylvania Republican, plus his wife. Congressman Carl Hinshaw of California and Thomas A. Jenkins of Ohio, both Republicans, both without wives, are also along.

The Democrats refused to go. They didn't like the idea of a junket at this particular time, when, they claimed, the Republicans should have given more careful consideration to the Dixon-Yates contract instead of ramming it through, without waiting until Congress is in session as required by law.

Cole Family Travels
Congressman Cole, who led the drive to okay the Dixon-Yates deal, also has with him, believe it or not, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Francis McAndrews.

Just why Cole's sister-in-law was going on this trip to survey uranium resources, no one at the Atomic Energy Committee could explain—except that she will drop off at Calcutta and will visit only Honolulu, Canton Island, Auckland, Wellington, Christchurch and Sydney.

Congressman Cole has shown a liberal leaning toward getting perquisites from Uncle Sam; even had an antique cabinet repaired in the congressional repair shop at the taxpayers' expense; also an antique organ—courtesy of Uncle Sam.

Also on the South Seas uranium junket are committee staff members George Norris, Walter Hamilton, Edward L. Heller; Col. Edward L. Wilson, Jr., representing the Pentagon; George Grey for the State Department; Jess Johnston, AEC director of raw material.

The group is even carrying its own government-paid doctor, Cmdr. Harry Etter.

They are traveling in a government plane supplied by the Military Air Transport Command and in some cases are stopping in government quarters at military bases.

Spain Is Sunny

Another peculiar series of congressional junkets is to Spain. Of course sunny Spain is an attractive country this time of year, and we do have some important bases there. But just why three different congressional committees should find it necessary to go there remains a mystery. Also what they can learn there in a few quick days is doubtful.

At any rate, Congressman Victor Wickersham, Oklahoma Democrat, and Leon Gavin, Pennsylvania Republican, are on a special Armed Services team to tour Spain; while a Military Appropriations Subcommittee inspecting Spain includes Glenn Davis of Wisconsin, T. Millett Hand of New Jersey, Elford Cederberg of Michigan, all Republicans; and John Riley of South Carolina, Democrat.

In addition, a Government Operations Committee looking over Spain includes Republican Congressman Brownson of Indiana, Meader of Michigan, and Mrs. Katherine St. George of New York.

This latter subcommittee has an interesting schedule. It enjoys four full days in Paris with no official duties, a day and a half in Madrid, one day in Barcelona, then Germany and a brief stop in London.

More important is the trip of an Armed Services Subcommittee to Germany to probe charges that GI's are being milked for huge profits by certain insurance companies which allegedly have peddled $50 billion in bad insurance to unsuspecting servicemen.

This group includes Cunningham, Iowa; Bates, Mass.; Hess, Ohio; Nelson, Me., all Republicans; with Rivers, S. C.; Hebert, La.; Fisher, Texas; Hardy, Va., Democrats.

Other Junkets

A special committee on public accounts is also visiting Western European port cities, to check on the subsidies given American shipbuilders on the ground that they can't compete with cheap European labor. This committee is headed by Congressman George Bender, recently elected senator from Ohio, and includes Osmer, N. Y.; McDonough, Calif.; Hillelson, Mo., all Republicans; with Mollohan, W. Va., and Fountain, N. C., Democrats.

Don't Be Afraid to Spend Christmas In Your Own Home

By Ruth Millett

Where to spend Christmas is a major problem in many homes at this season of the year.

Every year letters come in from young couples with children who can't make their own parents understand that they want to establish Christmas traditions in their own homes—instead of taking the children to the grandparents' home for the holiday.

Here is such a letter from a wife who says her husbands parents expect all of their children and grandchildren to spend Christmas at their house.

She and her husband would like to celebrate Christmas in their own home because of their children, but when she tried to explain this to her in-laws they said it was a selfish attitude. She adds: "I feel that our children should grow up with memories of Christmases spent at home, and that we could get together with my husband's family some other time during the year-end holidays."

"Selfish" Say Old Folks

"I have been called 'heartless' and 'hard to get along with' because my in-laws feel I think only of my husband and children and not of the older folks who would like to have all of their children and grandchildren at their house." There is nothing selfish about your attitude.

The Formosa Pact

By Bruce Bissat

The new defense agreement between the United States and the Nationalist Chinese government on the island of Formosa is logical and sensible. It substantially completes America's chain of defenses in the Far Pacific.

The country already has similar pacts with Korea, the Philippines, Japan, New Zealand and Australia. In addition it is signatory to the Southeast Asia Treaty, which would bring in Britain, France and a number of nations in the Pacific-Asiatic region on a defensive footing somewhat like NATO in Europe.

For a long time this country has made it abundantly plain that it regards Formosa as a critical link in its oceanic defenses. Both Japan and the Philippines, bigger bastions of freedom on the Pacific rim, would be perilously flanked if Formosa should fall to Communist China.

Our European allies do not share this concern over Formosa. In Britain's case especially, political commitments in the Far East are related to economic interests there, rather than to military safeguards. Defending a Pacific shoreline, even one 6,000 miles to the east, is no worry of theirs.

Thus it falls to us alone to protect Formosa, and in that effort to help protect Japan, the Philippines and the Ryukus (Okinawa). Since that is our intent, it is well to have it expressed in formal treaty. We want the Communists to understand exactly what our purpose is.

Furthermore, as Secretary of State Dulles says, we wish to demonstrate that Formosa is not on the bargaining counter, that we will not be party to any overall Pacific settlement which hands this Nationalist stronghold to the Reds. We are saying in the clearest tones: "Stay out."

The new agreement includes the islands known as the Pescadores, but says nothing specific about other tiny Nationalist-held islands lying close off the mainland Chinese coast. It does provide, however, that "other territories" may be included in the pact by later agreement between the parties.

In explaining the Formosa pact, Dulles said in response to inquiry that the United States might conceivably decide to undertake retaliation against mainland China if Formosa were attacked. But he insisted this would not mean general war with nuclear weapons would follow from such an assault.

The Formosa agreement forges a last link for us in the Pacific. It is one more striking sign of our intent to be firm against the encroachments of communism, while avoiding at all reasonable cost the awful devastations of an atomic war.

Acute Attacks of Gout Often Due to Food, Alcohol

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

Gout is a most interesting disease, though not a very common one. It's cause or causes are still somewhat obscure, though perhaps most students of the disease agree in general that it is an inherited defect of metabolism (tissue functioning) which causes some people to manufacture more uric acid than they can use or eliminate.

Certainly gout is one of the most painful of all human disorders. It is principally a disease of men and only about one case in 20 is in women.

When typical, an acute attack starts rather unexpectedly with great pain at the base of one of the big toes. It may, of course, start near some other joint. The pain is sharp and often wakes the victim from a sound sleep. Tenderness is extreme; even the weight of the bed clothes is often too much to bear.

An acute attack is frequently brought on by overindulgence in food or alcoholic beverage. A good many of those who suffer an attack report an unusually rich or large meal immediately preceding the onset of their pain and quite often will have taken wine or some other alcoholic beverage.

At the present time there is some difference of opinion on the importance of dieting but probably most physicians who treat the disease will forbid those foods which contain a chemical substance called purine in large quantity. Among these foods containing much purine are liver, sweetbreads, beef kidneys, brains, meat extracts, sardines, anchovies and many gravies.

By proper knowledge of diet and sometimes by the addition of one or two drugs, it is often possible to prevent attacks of acute gout or at least to make them come less often. In those who have had acute gout for years, a chronic form often appears which doctors now call gouty arthritis.

In this phase of gout, crystal-like substances are deposited in or near the joints. These cannot be dissolved, but are not very painful between acute attacks. However, these crystals, called urates, can become so numerous that they are disfiguring, some reaching the size of hen's eggs or even larger. Occasionally they break through the skin and drain out for a long time. There are also certain drugs which are useful both in acute attacks and in reducing the number of attacks. Curiously enough, cortisone or ACTH if given at the right time will halt the progress of an attack, but if these preparations are stopped without other measures being simultaneously used the attack comes on later anyway.

A recent letter from "worried wife" says that her husband has gout and asks about tea. Tea can be allowed. She also asks about cigar smoking and this, too, so far as is known, has no direct effect on gout.

Watch vs. Sun

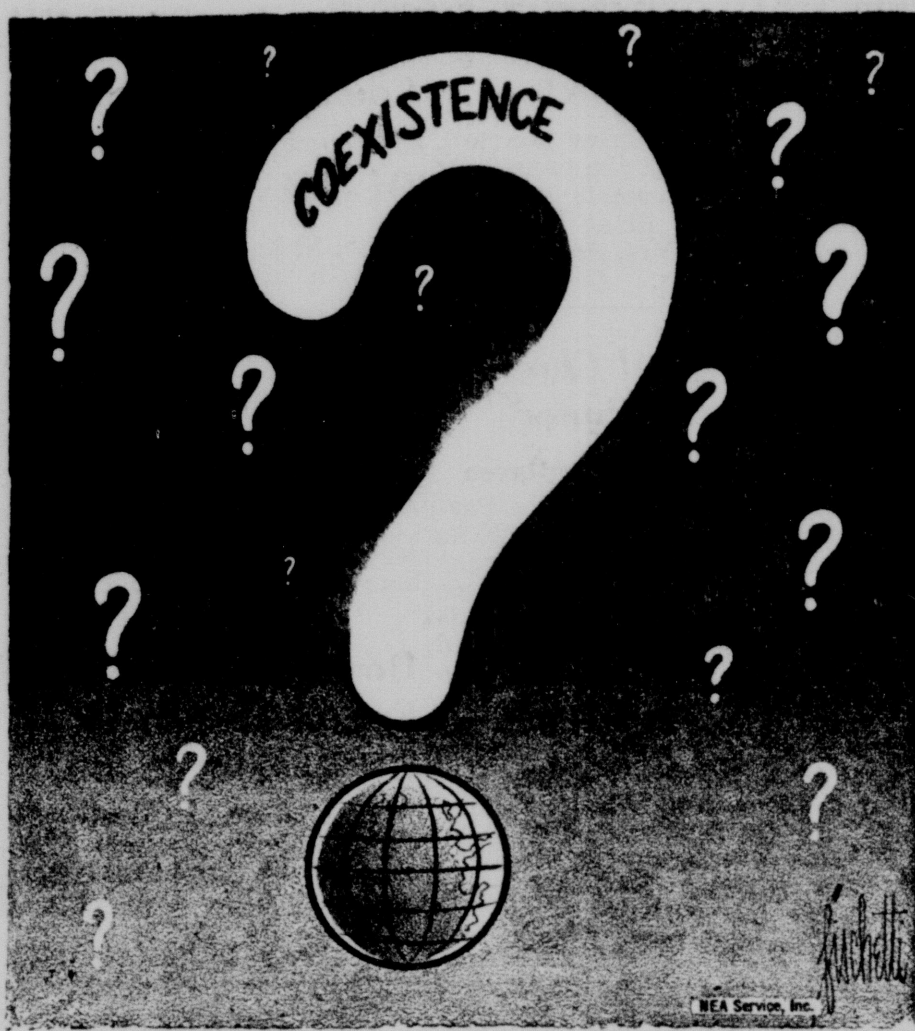

Beginning about April 16, your watch will run slower than sun time until June 15, then faster until Sept. 1, slower again from then until Dec. 25, and faster from this date until April 16.

It is perfectly natural. Your parents-in-law should be able to understand and respect your wish to build Christmas traditions in your own home.

However, if you can't make them understand, it might be better—even for the children's sake—to give in gracefully to their wishes than to cause a family row.

Surely there can be little of the Christmas spirit in any kind of celebration that results in a family squabble.

The Big One

The World Today— This American Boy Is Lonely

By DON WHITEHEAD
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Behind the Bamboo Curtain of Red China today there is an American boy who can't forget his home and those he loves.

Richard Tenneson turned his back on his own country, his family and his friends when he walked into the world of the Communists rather than accept repatriation in the exchange of Korean War prisoners.

But the memories still are there. Even now he's haunted by memories of the music of America—melodies which will tear at his heart and conscience as long as he lives, so help him God.

Recently Tenneson wrote his mother in Minnesota asking her to send him sheet music of such sentimental songs as "White Christmas" and "Dear Hearts and Gentle People."

Richard Tenneson is groping for solace in music as our people have for centuries, and as they always will.

Even in war, they found comfort in music.

In North Africa, soldiers gathered around their radios at night and searched the wavelengths until they found the music they wanted. Always it was music. Perhaps it was a French song or an American dance band or their favorite, "Lili Marlene," the German ballad.

Across Italy and France and Germany the soldiers paused to play the pianos in the battered houses. Sometimes the notes could be heard above the rattle of gunfire in the streets outside.

In Liege, Belgium, the Germans had retreated. The little night club opened its doors for the first time in months. A makeshift Belgian band was trying hard but it was a pretty dismal effort until the blackout curtains parted and six GIs strode into the room.

The six Americans had the grime of the infantry on them. You knew they were combat men by their young-old faces. They stacked their carbines and went to the bandstand and the Belgians handed them the musical instruments.

They poured out their hearts in music that night, those GIs. They exulted in the wild freedom of jazz and washed away their loneliness in the blues from the bayou country. Then they laid down the instruments, picked up their carbines, and walked into the night where the darkness was broken by the flashes of artillery fire.

I'm sure they were happier because the music had brought them nearer home and the things they would return to in a few more months.

Off the coast of Sicily, the troops filed into the black hold of an invasion ship and clambered into the amphibious trucks which would carry them ashore behind the German lines.

We sat in the blackness, tense and afraid, waiting for H-hour. And then came the thin notes of a harmonica, rising and falling with the bittersweet melody, "Night and Day."

Somewhere in the darkness a youth was voicing all the loneliness, yearning and hope that was inside him. The music made you think of those you loved and of what you would return to someday when this thing was ended.

It seemed as if hundreds of men were holding their breath so they wouldn't miss a single note of the music that came out of the darkness. For a fleeting time they remembered another and better world.

Richard Tenneson will remember too when he hears the music he asked his mother to send him. But if Richard Tenneson has begun to understand the music of America—it won't bring him the solace that came to the men in the invasion ship that night. There will be only emptiness in his heart.

Danish Airport Head Grows Crops Between Strips of Runways

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—It's well known that the people of tiny Denmark don't waste a tillable acre of their precious farmland, but few passengers at Copenhagen's Kastrup Airport realize they are landing on one of the country's largest farms. Even the Danes were surprised when Airport Manager Leo Sørensen disclosed he had planted barley, oats, rye and wheat between runways and in the safety zones around the 800-acre government-owned field.

Fight The Wild River

by EDMUNDS CLAUSSEN

THE STORY: Captain Crotch's deckhands on the riverboat General Heath are battling desperadoes who seek to obtain a shipment of rifles destined for a Union Army outpost on the Colorado River. Crotch's life was saved by Radeliff Burke, who had seemed to be behind the move to get the rifles. Burke shot down a man who was about to shoot the captain.

WITHOUT their leader the Gila City mob soon backed over the gangplank. Actually, they had been defeated before Belaire went down. They had known it, and Belaire had known it—Crotch had read the desperation in his face, even as the man's gun was turning toward him.

But what were the reasons for Burke coming to the General Heath's support? Now, as Crotch recalled the look on Belaire's face, he knew the man had recognized Burke in that last moment before death blanked his mind.

Crotch thrust his gaze on Burke and found him still holding his pistol.

"You fight like a veteran," Burke admitted coolly. "I had no idea they'd battle so fiercely for steamboat passage."

Crotch started a growl low in his throat. Now it came to him clearly: shooting would be bound to arouse Murphy, and once that first shot had been fired by Belaire, Burke's plan had miscarried. What good was his wagon, his looted guns, when he was too weak to withstand a charge of the post's cavalry? Primarily, Burke was a shrewd man. He had altered his plan, electing to buy his way into Crotch's confidence by saving his life.

Crotch turned away from Burke toward his own men. I don't owe him anything, he thought. Burke had masterminded this raid after the rifles; he had had his own strange reasons for being satisfied with Belaire's death. There had been no favor, Crotch would give none in return.

On the foredeck he found Melott with his head pressed between cupped palms. His enmity had taken severe punishment and was groaning.

"Whatever made them put up such a fight? Whatever made them do it?" Melott demanded.

"Jim, it's not what you think," Melott removed one hand at a time from his rank wet face. He had bony, lean features, a long sharp nose and a cleft chin. His eyes were points of fire. "Why did you say that?"

"We're carrying guns for the army. For the Federals, Jim."

Melott's lips were white and his eyes were shadowy blanks, expressing absolutely nothing.

He said heavily, "I had an idea of that. Why do we have to do it? What's the matter with sending them overland? Murphy could make up a train."

"No, Jim! Murphy can't spare men enough to guard that kind of shipment. The Apaches would go for those guns!"

"What about the Amador? Did Jamison turn 'em down?"

"Murphy didn't give him a chance. He's afraid of Maddix, of Calhoun." Crotch paused, then added, "He knows Navigation's out to break us."

MELOTT stared across the dry stretch of arrow-weed that swept beyond range of eyesight. For a long time he had known something like this was going to happen. The Territory was too important not to be fought over, and the General Heath must come into it.

He said stiffly, "I was born under the same flag as you. It hasn't made the wisest choice in this, nor done all that was fair. But I guess it will still do. It will have to do, Iry—there's no other way."

An hour later his passengers began climbing over the side. Now they had enough fists and guns to withstand further trouble. Passengers on the river boats always fought for their own packet. Considering the Apache desert on each side of the river, it was a good thing this was so.

Crotch's gaze fell on Dreyfus coming over the gangplank. He had someone else with him. A woman! He was taking Queenie back to La Paz!

His eyes flicked to her and he knew an instant's sharp regret. He realized at once Queenie had thrown over her bakery shop for this. For this life in the parched hills with the utter loneliness, the hardship and the song of the wolves at night. Then, oddly, he remembered her tone when she had asked if Burke was coming upriver. It wasn't Dreyfus, then, but Burke!

"She'll be no trouble to you," Dreyfus said as he pressed a sack of gold into the captain's hand.

"Staterooms are all taken," Crotch murmured tritely.

"Where Dreyfus sleeps will be all right with me," Queenie said.

Her expression was gay, care-free, very nearly radiant, Crotch thought. She was dressed in a newly made Indian skirt.

Later, he went back with his passengers and saw Dreyfus spread his blanket over the deck in the bow of the ship. Alongside it Dreyfus laid his rifle. Others were already sleeping beside him; the deck was beginning to fill with dark shapes of men in various positions of rest. They had no top covering—the wind on the river was like the blast from a furnace, and marsh mosquitoes were thick in the air.

Now Queenie was coming toward him at a brisk walk and Crotch paused beside the rail. "You don't think I'm doing the right thing?" she asked quietly.

He lifted a shoulder. "So long as you don't hurt Dreyfus."

She paused a moment, then: "I'll do right by him."

US Takes On More SE Asian Responsibility

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The United States will assume new responsibilities for the safety of Southeast Asia against Communist attack at the start of the new year, under plans now being worked out between U. S. and French officials.

Secretary of State Dulles is expected to discuss arrangements with French Premier Mendes-France when he goes to Paris next week for a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council. Their talks may add the final touches necessary for full agreement.

The detailed negotiating is being done by Saigon, capital of the non-Communist southern half of Viet Nam, by Gen. J. Lawton Collins and Gen. Paul Ely, French commissioner general. President Eisenhower sent Collins to Indochina in November as a special ambassador.

Informants here said Collins and Ely are aiming at Jan. 1 as the target date on which the United States should take charge of training the new Vietnamese army.

They added that Jan. 1 also is the date on which, according to an agreement already made between Washington and Paris, millions of dollars in American financial support will begin flowing directly from the United States to Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos, instead of going through Paris.

The United States now has a 25-million-dollar annual economic aid program for the three Indochina states. There is some thought that this will be increased in the new year.

In addition, defense funds are going to the Indochina states at the rate of 385 million dollars annually. This was part of 785 million dollars provided by Congress to back up French and other anti-Communist forces fighting in Indochina. The fighting stopped July 21.

Congress has made available 700 million dollars in defense funds for use next year in the general area of China, including Indochina. Officials are considering asking an increase in this amount.

Red Satellites Take Dim View Of Christmas

VIENNA (AP)—Christmas will not amount to much for 70 millions in Communist East Europe this year.

Communism supposedly has let up a little in its persecution of the church and there are supposed to be more luxury goods available in the state-run stores. But all indications from the Communist press are that Russia's Communist satellites are going ahead with long-range plans to eliminate Christmas entirely.

In the schools of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria, the children are being taught their parents are wrong. The Red star of communism, not the Star of Bethlehem, is the important thing.

Family celebrations of Christmas are being discouraged. There will be fir trees in the streets of Warsaw, Prague and Budapest, but they will be known as "New Year's trees," or "winter trees."

There will be parties for the kids in schools and in the halls of Communist organizations. But they will be held around Jan. 1. In them, the children will see films about the Soviet Union and puppet shows in which American soldiers and bankers are the "bogeymen."

There will be special holiday radio programs for children but mostly devoted to the Communist concepts of "peace and friendship."

The exchange of gifts is being frowned on. Gifts, said a Polish newspaper, are "decadent capitalism." Czech mothers have been advised not to send packages to their soldier sons. "They have already enough to eat and packages will only spoil them," said the newspaper Odbor.

Block-printed playing cards were used all over Europe half a century before books were printed there.

Hunters Have Fine Shooting, But No Wolf

PLANO, Tex. (AP)—Mr. Wolf outfoxed the hunters yesterday.

They went after him 275 strong in a search plotted and staged with military precision. They shot up the countryside.

The bag: two foxes, two owls, a squirrel and around a dozen rabbits. No wolves.

Timber wolves have been killing sheep around Plano, 18 miles northeast of Dallas. A half dozen farmers have lost 10 to 25 head the past year, and a half. The hunters, mostly from Dallas, heard about it and organized an assault.

The day broke chill and cloudy, and they assembled at the Miller & Son feed store here. Many crossed the street to Murrell's Hardware to buy shotgun shells. Roy Murrell came down to open up for the event.

In the feed store, farmers John Merriman and Dexter Prince studied a penciled map of the area and plotted strategy. "We'll cross Albritton's Bottom, then go up here," Prince suggested. Outside, he told the milling hunters, "One last statement—you are going at your own risk."

A couple of miles north of town, the hunters lined up in a large open field and, at a rifle shot signal, started off through oaks, elms and hackberries in a long, straggling file. The hunt took up most of the morning.

They saw lots of critters. A cottontail leaped into view and, as guns blasted, zig-zagged off in terror. This one escaped. Moments later, however, the only woman along—Mrs. Joseph App, of Dallas—shot a rabbit. Reed Hoover shot both owls.

Several said they got shots at wolves. None was successful. Said Bill Morris, a veteran of Korea: "We had some days on Old Baldy that were a lot quieter than this."

Children Talk To Santa Claus By Telephone

WEST LEBANON, N. H. (AP)—"Hello, Santa, can you hear me? Thanks for all the gifts last year. Now this year . . ."

From now until Christmas, telephone operators all over the country will be channeling "calls for Santa Claus" to big-hearted Joseph Schambler at his home here.

This is the sixth consecutive year that the 37-year-old Veterans Administration clerk has taken over the role of "St. Nick."

From 6 until 9 p.m., EST, children can call the "North Pole" just by telling the telephone operator "I want to talk to Santa Claus at West Lebanon, N. H."

The operator will put through the call, providing Mommy or Daddy pays the toll charge.

The 5-foot-6, 125-pound Schambler volunteered to be Santa in 1948 when the nearby White River Junction, Vt., VFW post decided youngsters should have an opportunity to phone Christmas requests.

This year three VFW posts are sponsoring the venture. The telephone company has installed a special switchboard.

Last year 3,500 youngsters called Schambler. This year he expects twice as many calls. His wife Frances, 44, and four neighborhood children—his "helpers"—assist him.

Youngsters calling Schambler receive the full "Santa workshop" treatment. Santa's cheery voice greets them; a music box plays; reindeer bells tinkle, and a 100-year-old bell peals.

Some parents write Schambler in advance so when the youngster calls Santa he is either congratulated or admonished regarding his pre-ylutide behavior.

Schambler says he is aware that parents, in most cases, are within hearing distance of their offspring during the calls so they'll know what presents to get them.

Sullen Teenager Faces Arson, Manslaughter Charges; Four Die

HAVERHILL, Mass. (AP)—A sullen, teen-age trade school student faced District Court today charged with arson and manslaughter in the death of his parents and two other persons in a flaming downtown apartment house.

Police Inspector Charles F. Turner said Richard E. La Plante, 16, admitted setting the early morning fire yesterday because "I didn't like the place and I told my folks so many times."

Burned to death as fire swept the four-story brick and wooden house were Alfred La Plante, 45; his wife Eva, 43; Fred Bacigalupo, 63; and Mahlon Cutler, 44. Some 20 others, mostly old age pensioners, fled to safety.

Five Sisters Perish As Flash Fire Sweeps Through Apartment

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five sisters, left alone in their second-floor apartment for about 20 minutes, were burned to death last night when a flash fire trapped them in their bedroom.

George Davis Jr., 6-year-old brother of the victims, suffered third-degree burns and suffocation. He was in serious condition at South Baltimore General Hospital.

Firemen said the father, a Negro longshoreman, had left the house to go to a nearby restaurant. His wife Ruth, 26, was at a movie.

Davis saw smoke when he arrived home after an absence of 20 minutes. His rescue attempts failed when he was beaten back by intense flames and smoke.

Ten minutes elapsed before firemen could enter the bedroom. Found dead were Mildred, 10, Rosetta, 4, Wilhelmina, 2, Palestina, 15 months, and Lula, 5 months.

Firemen said the fire started around a stove pipe in the grocery below the apartment.

Will Make Polio Shots Available to First, Second Grade Pupils

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis intends to make the Salk vaccine available for all of the nation's first and second-grade pupils if last summer's tests show the drug is effective.

The announcement was made by the foundation yesterday. The University of Michigan is conducting evaluation of the tests and the report on the study is expected next spring.

The foundation also said it had removed pregnant women from its original list of those scheduled to receive the vaccine. They were replaced by the second-graders, who have a higher polio attack rate.

Other ships are expected to be added later under a general agreement to build up the Korean Republic's navy.

Sues Chemical Firm After Being Almost Bald for Over a Year

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—Since April 1953, says Mrs. Maude B. Floyd, she has been almost bald. And she doesn't like it.

Mrs. Floyd has sued the Read Drug and Chemical Co. of Baltimore for $10,000. She charged that a saleswoman in the firm's Eastern store, through "carelessness and negligence," sold her a home permanent preparation which made her hair fall out.

She said the clerk assured her daughter that the preparation was a "home permanent for bleached hair." But as soon as she used it, Mrs. Floyd said in her declaration filed with the Wicomico County Circuit Court Saturday, her hair fell out.

Examination of the bottle disclosed instructions not to use "if your hair is bleached, dyed or tinted," the suit said.

Yanked From Stands, He Saves Team

NEW YORK (AP) — A seat in the grandstand, surrounded by friends and pretty girls. A hot dog to munch. And an exciting football game going on in front of you. What more could a boy ask on a fine November afternoon?

Jerry Thinnies didn't ask, but he was asked and thereby gained immortality of a sort as the principal figure in the outstanding football oddity of the 1954 season. Seven writers and broadcasters participating in the annual Associated Press roundup of strange happenings named Thinnies. Here's what happened.

Jerry, a 19-year-old freshman quarterback at Western Illinois College, was in the stands watching the varsity play Eastern Illinois. He saw the first-string quarterback Bill Vandermerck limp off the field. Second-stringer Ozzy Hyson couldn't go in because of an injury and Jerry Thomas, who had a weak ankle, had to take over.

Coach Wes Stevens sent an aide hurrying into the stands, where he found Thinnies enjoying a frankfurter and roll and hustled him to the dressing room. Jerry never knew the plays, but Coach Stevens mapped out three quick plays and sent the 19-year-old youngster into the game. Jerry threw three passes on as many plays for a touchdown that put Western ahead.

The game ended in a 13-13 tie but Thinnies won that performance and today the writers picked it as the season's oddity.

Other oddities included: Frank Sarno of Washington State kicked three conversions against Oregon for only one point-two penalties.

A high school player, Roger Ashcraft of Erie, Kas., outdid Sarno that way. He used the ball across the line four times, using the same play, to get one touchdown.

Orville Henry of the Little Rock Arkansas Gazette contributed a real rib tickler. He claims he got it from an official and confirmed it by the coach. He calls it a "reverse off the belly handoff."

Fullback Bob Ehrens of College of the Ozarks burst through the East Central (Okla.) line and felt the ball slipping from his grasp. He tried to grip it as he ran, but the ball kept slipping away. Finally, as it slipped clear behind his back, Bob managed to get his hands around and pin it there as he continued to run awkwardly.

At about the 30 yard line, an East Central player overhauled Ehrens. Instead of throwing a jarring tackle, he merely plucked the ball from the middle of Bob's back and started the other direction. He made about 15 yards on this "reverse."

Says Illegal Recruiting Has Become Serious

DALLAS (AP) — Copies of a 400-word statement that the Southwest Conference's very existence is endangered by a wave of illegal recruiting went out today to alumni groups of the seven member schools.

It was the alumni that the faculty committee, governing body of the conference, hit at mostly in a report on athletic subsidization at its winter meeting over the weekend.

And it was pointed out, this is the hardest group to control, that while "evidence of such wrongdoing has occurred is too strong to be doubted" the kind of evidence that will stand up in court could not be obtained.

The committee found that valuable gifts to prospective athletes, payment of money and promise of employment to parents in an effort to influence athletic recruiting and efforts to evade the rule in the proper signing of athletes were threatening "the good name" of the conference.

The committee exacted a pledge from each member of the league that it would tighten rules to better control its alumni and other supporters of its athletic teams. The member schools—Texas, Texas A&M, Rice, Arkansas, Baylor, Texas Christian and Southern Methodist—are distributing the statement to the alumni organizations.

Rocky Now Weighs 200 Lbs. And Observers See Trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — Months of trouncing around the country, making personal appearances and laying it out at the banquet table, have hoisted Rocky Marciano's weight up to 200 pounds, heaviest the champion has scaled since he began his career seven years ago. He notched only 187 for his title defense against Ezzard Charles last September.

There are keen observers who predict that Rocky, a notable eater in any company, will shorten his tenure considerably unless he fights twice a year and sticks to the long training sieges he has endured up to now. They don't think the Brooklyn Buster is gaited for any extended inaction.

Whom he will fight next, and where, we are not in position to make an enlightened guess. Rocky said in a recent interview he might defend on the West Coast next March, but he probably was just making talk.

Insiders are convinced that Al Weill, the champ's manager, will never consent to a match with Archie Moore, the wily light heavyweight king.

Earl Flora, of the Ohio State Journal, insists it happened. In his column he tells of the Columbus lady who, wishing to be helpful, wrote to Philadelphia Phils that there were a couple of high school graduates in her city who looked like fine prospects. She suggested that the Phils have one of their scouts look them over. In due time she received this reply:

"You may be sure we appreciate your recommendation to us the two players. However, we instruct our scouts not to sign players who are under six feet tall."

Flora suggests that, for a club which has won only one pennant in the past 39 years, this is being pretty choosy.

Bets No College Cagers Go Without, Two, Three Defeats

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The betting today is that no college basketball team will go through the season with fewer than two or three defeats.

The campaign is less than two weeks old and already teams tapped for outstanding court seasons have been dumped unceremoniously from the unbeaten class.

Exactly half of the top 10 teams in the Associated Press' preseason poll bit the dust for the first time Saturday. They were Duquesne (No. 3), Iowa (No. 4), Holy Cross (No. 5), Niagara (No. 8) and Notre Dame (No. 9). Indiana (No. 6) was beaten earlier in the week.

In addition, 11th-ranked Oklahoma A&M was knocked off as were 12th-rated St. Louis, perennially powerful Western Kentucky, North Carolina, Fordham, Army, Texas Christian and San Francisco.

Duke, Penn State, Wake Forest and Kansas State also have been beaten.

La Salle and Kentucky, one-two in last week's AP poll, still were among the unbeaten but not before they were handed real, honest-to-goodness scores. The Explorers, behind from the opening whistle, were forced into overtime before eking out a 76-75 victory over Niagara.

It took a desperation shot by Bob Maples with only six seconds left for La Salle to register its fourth triumph.

Kentucky had its toughest game since it last was beaten, by St. John's in 1952, edging Xavier of Ohio 73-69 in its 27th straight. The Wildcats led by only 70-69 with less than a minute remaining.

Dayton and North Carolina State, ranked seventh and 10th respectively in the AP poll, improved their prospects with resounding victories. The Flyers, Ohio won their fourth in a row, burying Bowling Green 109-39, and the Wolfpack notched their fifth straight with a 66-53 win over Eastern Kentucky.

The biggest shock was George Washington's 71-64 annual Steel Bowl triumph over Duquesne, which admittedly was handicapped by the absence of St. Green, its spectacular scorer. Green was won with an attack of appendicitis. Joe Holup led the Colonials with 26 points.

Iowa's 97-94 loss to Missouri also came as a surprise since the Hawkeyes are favored to capture the Big Ten title.

Indiana, the Big 10 defending champion, whipped Notre Dame 73-70 Saturday to hand the Irish their first home defeat since February 1952.

Bobo Defends Title Against French Boxer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bobo Olson risks his "Fighter of the Year" fame as well as his world middleweight title when he defends against France's Pierre Langlois Wednesday at San Francisco.

Olson, of course, still would be honored as the outstanding boxer of the year, win or lose, but a defeat would rub most of the luster off the shiny award.

As Bobo is a 4 to 1 favorite to turn back the French challenger, he may not be taking too much of a gamble. Still, Langlois is a rugged import with an unorthodox style who can trouble anybody.

This will be Olson's third defense of the championship, he nailed down by defeating Britain's Randy Turpin in last year. He whipped Kid Gavilan at Chicago last spring and got off the floor to outpoint Rocky Castellani at San Francisco Aug. 20.

The bout will be carried on network television (CBS).

Bob Baker and Coley Wallace, the two heavyweights whose Oct. 1 battle in Cleveland was lost in the World Series excitement, meet again Friday at Mason Square Garden (NBC radio TV).

Baker beat Wallace at Cleveland. Gene Smith and Rudy Garcia, two featherweights, meet tonight at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway (ABC-TV).

St. Nicholas Arena stages a "Youth Program" tonight (DuMont-TV) with a pair of 22-year-old lightweight in the main event: Kenny Lane, Muskegon, Mich. southpaw, boxes Danny Joe Perez, winner of 16 of 18 pro fights, Perez knocked out Dickie Wong and equipped Bobby Bickie, former Olympic boxer, in his two fights for promoter Tex Sullivan.

College of Emporia Takes Small College Honors In Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — Unbeaten College of Emporia (Kan.) took small college offense honors while Tennessee State and Geneva College (Pa.) shared the more important defense titles during the 1954 football season, final N.C.A.A. service bureau statistics showed today.

Emporia, going through its second straight undefeated campaign piled up 46.7 yards a game, 40.7 of them on the ground, and averaged 43.2 points a game. In all three respects, it led the nation, bettering the marks compiled by the major-college champions, too.

Emporia also posted the highest rushing yardage figure ever recorded, in major or minor competition. Coach Wayne McConnell's team ran 86 per cent of the time (450 out of 523 plays) and got 86.2 per cent of its yardage on the ground. Its average gain was 8.08 yards a play.

Indiana, the Big 10 defending champion, whipped Notre Dame 73-70 Saturday to hand the Irish their first home defeat since February 1952.

Holy Cross, rated one of the best teams in the East, was rocked by St. John's of Brooklyn, blowing a 35-33 halftime lead to bow 93-73. Oklahoma's Aggies suffered their first loss at the hands of Illinois 59-53.

Okla. A.&M. Bid Is Chilled, Doesn't Die

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Oklahoma A&M College's well-aged petition for membership in the Big Seven Conference has been returned to the deep freeze—but is still alive.

Faculty representatives of the Big Seven—officially the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association—last Saturday deferred action "pending further study" on the Stillwater, Okla., school's written application for membership.

While it was the third time since World War II such bids have failed to carry support of the conference, most observers close to the Big Seven feel it's only a matter of time before the Oklahoma Aggies become a member of the Midlands' major athletic family.

Oklahoma A&M was a charter member of the Southwest Conference. It withdrew in 1924 to join the Missouri Valley Conference two years before Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Kansas State, Nebraska and Iowa State pulled out to form the old Big Six.

The Big Seven faculty denied applications of Oklahoma A&M in 1947 and 1949. The bid was withdrawn after the 1949 failure and only renewed recently.

It was learned the Aggies were one supporter shy of the 6-1 vote needed for admittance of a new member.

The University of Oklahoma has been a strong supporter for membership of its neighbor school. The chief difficulty now, and in the past on membership matters, is that of schedule making. Nebraska, reportedly is in favor of taking in Oklahoma A&M. Colorado and Iowa State appear the teams asking for more time.

The faculty group did take a few definite actions.

Freshman football teams were given permission to play the new air force academy which will have its permanent home at Colorado Springs, Colo. They're still limited to two games with member schools.

Cal Allison, Oklahoma football star, was given permission to participate in the Hula Bowl at Honolulu. He's a senior but takes part in baseball.

The faculty allotted $5,000 from the net Orange Bowl receipts to defray expenses of the Nebraska band to the Jan. 1 Miami game.

Athletic directors of the Big Seven are now charged with the responsibility of keeping the sidelines clear during games with emphasis placed on keeping players on the bench.

In event of a tie for the basketball championship, such as between Kansas and Colorado last season, the conference amended its rules concerning representation in the NCAA tournament. Previously, a tie called for a draw by lot or slip of a coin. Now if there's a two-way tie and one defeated its partner twice during regular season, it gets the bid automatically.

Whitfield, 29, won his first Olympic crown in 1948. He was the 800-meter champion that year and again in 1952.

"We intended to keep it a secret until he returns, but Mal must have told someone in Europe," said Miss Johansson. "I am surprised but quite happy. We have not set a date but will do so when he gets home."

Miss Johansson is the daughter of Jogheneborg, Sweden. She and Whitfield were seen together frequently during the 1952 Olympic Games in Helsinki. The Swedish girl said she met the track man, who lives in Los Angeles, in Stockholm in 1949 when he was on tour with an American track team.

Whitfield is now in Pakistan on a world good will tour of lecturing and conducting track clinics under sponsorship of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Big 7 Continues Non-Title Cage Schedule

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Big Seven basketball teams, nursing a 9-7 won-lost record, continue their non-conference competition against major league outfits this week.

The Big Seven teams won 8 of 12 games the past week, 4 on Monday and 4 again Saturday.

On the victory side Saturday were Missouri, 97-94 over Iowa; Colorado, 66-47 over Colorado A&M; Kansas State, 75-50 over Wyoming, and Nebraska, 87-51 over South Dakota.

Oklahoma was beaten, 77-66, by Wisconsin and Iowa State, 79-67, by Bradley.

Kansas State and Nebraska play only once this week. Four members have two games apiece. Kansas has three.

The week's schedule: Tonight—Wisconsin at Missouri. Tuesday—Tulsa at Kansas, Oklahoma at Baylor.

Wednesday — Arkansas at Missouri. Friday—Rice at Kansas, Denver at Iowa State, Colorado at California.

Saturday—Ohio State at Oklahoma, Washington at Kansas State, Nebraska at Bradley, Colorado at California, Creighton at Iowa State, Rice at Kansas.

Only six games remain after this week before the Big Seven's annual tournament in Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium Dec. 27-28-29-30. California is the guest team.

Coach Wilbur (Sparky) Stalcup's Missouri Tigers, rated with Colorado as strongest threats for the conference title, set a new school scoring record in beating Iowa, their second straight Big Ten victim. The Tigers upset Indiana on Monday after having been drubbed, 77-49 by Illinois in their season opener.

Forward Med Park and center Bob Reiter hit 25 and 24 points, respectively, as Missouri had an easy go of it most of the way before Iowa made the going tough in the closing minutes. Missouri's previous high score of 86 points was against Houston here last season. The attendance was 4,800, a home opening record.

In other Big Seven action: At Manhattan—Kansas State got its first victory of the season against two losses. It held a 46-32 halftime lead over Wyoming. Forward Jim Smith led the scoring with 23 points. Some 8,500 attended.

At Boulder—Colorado won as it pleased over Colorado A&M before 3,900. Center Burdett Halderson led the scoring with 12 points.

At Norman—The Badgers were in front all of the way. They led 38-29 at the half. They made 17 of their possible 27 points from the free throw line.

Shantz May Give A's Hurling Staff Valuable Boost In 1955 Season

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Bobby Shantz, the American League's most valuable player in 1952 but benched with an injury most of the past two seasons, may give the Kansas City Athletics' hurling staff a valuable boost next year.

He wrote club officials here that after a complete examination his doctor said he "should be as good as new when spring training starts."

Shantz was examined by Dr. George Bennett at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore at the request of manager Lou Boudreau. The left-hander injured his arm in the 1953 season and again in the first month of last season. In 1952 he was a 24-game winner with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Terry Brennan Makes Professional Debut In TV, Does Well

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Terry Brennan of Notre Dame made his professional television debut last night and fared better in one respect than four bobby sox idols.

The 26-year-old Irish coach ad-libbed his sketch while Jeff Chandler, Tony Curtis, Rock Hudson and Gordon Macrae read many of their lines from "Idiot cards."

"Idiot card" is the trade name for the prompting aid held up by actors can read their lines. It's a common TV practice.

A spokesman for NBC-TV's Comedy Hour disclosed that the cards hindered instead of helping Brennan during rehearsals.

"We decided to throw Brennan's script away when he showed so much poise," the spokesman explained. "He showed absolutely no nervousness, a trait which many professional actors don't possess."

Brennan's appearance on the show stemmed from a new "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em" policy of the Comedy Hour.

The show has fought a losing battle of ratings with the rival Ed Sullivan show on CBS-TV. Sullivan mixes sports figures with entertainers and often features movie personalities plugging their latest screen hits.

Bob Rosburg Takes Miami First Prize

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bob Rosburg, a roly-poly young man who almost wasn't there, pocketed the $2,000 first prize money in the Miami Open Golf Tournament after a display of putting that had spectators bug-eyed.

"I had decided not to come down didn't think it would be worth the trip," the San Francisco putting perfectionist said yesterday after winning his first major tournament. "Now I'm awfully glad I changed my mind."

The chubby, 28-year-old Rosburg's putting was at a peak in the final round over the par 35-35-70, 6,620-yard Miami Springs course.

His ability to stroke them in from as far as 50 feet away enabled him to vault from a tie for sixth, two strokes off the pace, into first place. His sensational 32-33-65 gave him a 273 total, 7 under par.

Don't Utilize 'Shoe Box' Accounting

By Paul Bebermeyer
Farm Management Specialist

Are you one of the many farmers who pay more income tax than the law requires? It's easy to do if you don't get the right figures in the right place. So, if you want to save money it will pay you to spend some time and care in getting your figures together.

Let's hope you are not using the "shoe box" system of farm records. This is a most simple system up to tax reporting time. You simply dump all cancelled checks, bills marked "paid", and sales slips in the shoe box. But, to make your report, you've got to sort and classify these bills and receipts. So next year why not get a Missouri record book from your county agent and keep your sales and expenses classified as you go along? Then all you have to do is to pick out the right figures and put them in the right places on your tax report.

To get your figures on the 1040F on the cash basis, you classify your sales into four groups: 1. Sales of capital livestock and other capital items. Capital livestock includes (except poultry) kept for work or breeding, whether purchased or raised, provided you have owned them 12 months or longer. Machinery sold after having owned it for 6 months is also capital. If you report all this on schedule D of 1040F, only half of these net gains are taxable.

2. Sales of ordinary livestock and other purchased items. This includes livestock bought and fed for market, purchased breeding stock held for less than 12 months, machinery held for less than 6 months, and all other produce.

3. Sales of livestock raised. Don't include purchased animals in this group or you will be paying tax on the purchase as well as the gains.

4. Sales of produce such as wool, eggs, and milk. You also divide cash expenditures into four groups.

1. Purchases of livestock and other capital items. You are not allowed to deduct this year, but you can deduct a portion each year as depreciation. So put these items in your inventory record.

2. Ordinary livestock purchased. On a cash basis you cannot deduct the purchase price on these items until they are sold. Save this record for next year.

3. All other expenditures for items which are used during the year. Remember every $10 of expense you record saves $2 income tax.

4. Expenditures for terraces, outlets and ponds. These are deductible up to 25 per cent of your gross farm income. Be sure to set up depreciation lists of your machinery, farm buildings, and purchased breeding stock. Allowable depreciation on these items can save you up to $100 in tax.

Farm Price of Milk Is Expected to Drop Slightly This Month

The farm price for milk is expected to drop slightly during the present month. Ordinarily prices hold steady during December but they will be weak this year.

According to S. F. Whitted, agricultural economist at the University of Missouri, dairymen in this state will produce an all-time record amount of milk in

Proper Composting Increases Value, Amount of Fertilizer

By Marshall Christy
Extension Soils Specialist

Organic residues such as leaves, weeds, straw, grass clippings, and stalks can be turned into valuable fertilizer material by proper composting. Such material is often burned or hauled out to the dump, thus wasting materials that could be easily converted into plant food for next year's vegetable and flower gardens or shrubs and lawns. In addition to the plant food, the organic matter is valuable for improving the physical condition and water-holding capacity of soil.

Because dried leaves, stalks, and straw have a high carbon-nitrogen ratio, they resist decomposition. Some materials contain as much as 60 parts carbon to one part nitrogen.

Eggs Are Expected To Remain Steady In Price Next 30 Days

Not much change is expected in egg prices during the next 30 days. Prices for the remainder of this year and the early part of next year will be considerably lower than for the same period last year. The high next year is expected to occur during the normal late fall period.

John Miller, agricultural economist at the University of Missouri, says that if prices continue as expected, the egg-feed ratio will be unfavorable at flock replacement time next spring. Normal replacement ratio is followed by a reduced number of layers on hand the following January. And Miller thinks this could very well happen during 1955. If any reduction does come about, it will come in farm flocks rather than in commercial flocks.

Miller expects egg production to be a little smaller next fall and, other things being equal, this smaller egg production should be reflected in higher prices.

Lespedeza Output Will Exceed '53 Crop By About Three Times

Crop reporters estimate that lespedeza seed production this year in Missouri will be about three times that of last year. The increase was due to both a larger acreage and a higher yield per acre. However, this year's estimated production of lespedeza seed is only about half the ten-year average.

For the whole United States, it looks like its going to be the second smallest crop in eighteen years. About three-quarters of the seed harvested will be of the Korean variety.

The total lespedeza seed supply which includes carry-over plus production, is below both that of last year and the ten-year average.

1954. This milk will account for about one-eighth of the total cash receipts from the sales of farm products in Missouri this year. Missouri farmers have shown their faith in the future of the dairy industry by substantially increasing the number of milk cows in their herds.

Local Social Security Men Can Aid Farmer

Although the farm operator and the farm worker whom he hires will not begin to earn Social Security credits under the new law until Jan. 1, 1955, it is not too early for the operator to learn about his rights and obligations. He may have some questions to ask of the Sedalia district office, or of the field representatives who visit the larger towns in this area once or twice a month. The Bureau of Internal Revenue local offices are authoritative sources for answers about taxes and report forms.

Old Age and Survivors Insurance, better known, perhaps, as Social Security, is a program whereby a working person, regardless of age, may earn part of his future financial protection. Employment or self-employment under the program for a certain length of time with sufficient earnings will provide the worker with a monthly income in his old age. His wage record will in many cases also provide an income to his minor children and his wife at the same time. In case of his death, certain of his survivors may be furnished with monthly payments.

The program is financed by tax-contributions of those whose work

Growers of Certified Seed Have a Big Job

Certified seed growers have a big job to do. The rules a certified seed grower must follow are many and strict. But they are rules that the growers have set up themselves through discussions and agreements at their annual meeting each year. The growers realize that the Missouri Seed Improvement Association certifies about sixty varieties of nineteen different crops, and regulations must be strict in order to avoid mistakes. These regulations mean you can always put your trust in certified seed.

Folks often ask how long it will take organic material such as leaves to decompose in this process. That depends on moisture and temperature, but a well built compost heap should be rotted in four to six months. Leaves and other dry residues without the additional plant food may not decompose for a year or more.

Sawdust can be used for composting, but it will require the addition of considerably more nitrogen material. In addition to limestone and phosphate, around 40 pounds of actual nitrogen, or the amount contained in 120 pounds of ammonium nitrate, will be required to satisfactorily decompose a ton of sawdust.

Composts made in this manner are valuable for vegetable and flower gardens and for use on lawns. After the material is well rotted, it can be either worked into the soil or left scattered on top. Call or see your county extension agent for more information.

Gives Pointers In Cleaning Of Soybeans

Here are a few suggestions for those of you who are getting ready to clean soybeans. L. E. Cavanah, assistant professor of field crops at the University of Missouri, says an operator must use his own judgment and ingenuity in fitting a mill to do the best possible cleaning job. The operator should do a trial run, check the results and then make adjustments.

Cavanah lists four principles that must be followed to do a good cleaning job. First—select the correct size top and bottom screens by trying them out. Second—keep holes in the bottom screen open at all times. Third—feed the seed into the cleaner slowly and evenly, being careful not to overload the cleaner or stop it while seed is still on the screens. And fourth—use as much air as possible without blowing over good seed.

According to Cavanah, the top screen should be large enough to allow the seed to drop through... yet small enough to remove sticks, stems and unusually large beans. The bottom screen should allow most of the cracked and broken seed to fall through along with weed seeds and small trash.

In the best job of cleaning, many small but good beans will fall through to the bottom screen. These screenings can be recycled and used for your own seed or they may be sold to a mill at little or no discount.

Says Korean War Assisted Chinese Reds

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese technician says the Chinese Communists—for whom he worked as an adviser—used the Korean War to consolidate their power in China.

Kumajiro Fukuda recently was repatriated from Red China. He told his experiences in an article, "Red China as I Saw It," published in Tairiku Mondai (Continental Problems).

Fukuda went to China in 1916. He was director of Manchurian chemical industries when the Chinese captured him in the port of Dairen at the end of World War II. He was impressed into reconstruction work and helped to build chemical plants over wide areas of China.

Fukuda said the Communist regime in its first year after taking over in 1949 financed its way in part by killing landlords and wealthy merchants and seizing their properties.

"Dissatisfaction mounted all over the country after the first year," he wrote, "and the Communists had to round up many anti-Communists everywhere."

"The Korean War came amid these circumstances and the Communists jumped on it as a chance to consolidate their power."

Fukuda said the Communists financed the war by forcing bonds on Chinese with money and thereby wiped out the wealthy class.

Mao Tse-tung, through a gigantic purge beginning in January 1952, Fukuda recalled. The people were told to act as informers on anyone suspicious.

Hollywood Is Making Money In Ventures Attempted In Italy

ROME (AP)—Rome is rapidly becoming the Hollywood of Europe but Hollywood U.S.A. is making money in Italy.

The situation is "unique in the world," says Eitel Monaco, president of the Italian Motion Pictures Assn. He explains:

Hollywood U.S.A. is sending over fewer pictures yet "American distributing companies doing business in Italy are making more money than ever before." Box office receipts for American films rose from 48 million dollars in 1949 to 84 millions in 1952. In 1953 Hollywood producers took 15 millions out of Italy in net exportable earnings, an increase of five millions over 1949.

Movies have attracted an estimated 800 million people in Italy this year compared to 600 million in 1949.

"The Italian industry, now turning out 160 films a year, is becoming an important factor in the country's economy."

This year Italian pictures are netting 10 million dollars in foreign revenue—compared to two millions five years ago.

New Traffic Ordinance Sets Up Administration and Enforcement

Sedalia's new traffic ordinance goes into effect Wednesday — Safe Driving Day. Except where not indicated by markings of some sort, tickets will be issued for all the parking violations, along with the other types of offenses.

But parking is not the only subject treated in the new ordinance. Also defined and regulated are such items as traffic administration, speed regulations, pedestrians' rights and duties, regulations on bicycles and penalties and procedure on arrest.

The Democrat-Capital, therefore, is offering this series of five articles on the new ordinance in an effort to acquaint Sedalians and residents of the outlying area with the city's traffic regulations. This is done to assist them in avoiding violations and to let them see what the over-all traffic pattern is.

While these articles cannot include every detail of the ordinance without being confusing, it is suggested that they be clipped out and saved by drivers as a guide. Questions may be directed to The Democrat-Capital, the police department, the Citizens Advisory Traffic Commission or the city traffic engineer.

The new traffic ordinance is 47 pages long and is divided into 18 different sections dealing with related phases of traffic control. Today's article will be confined to the first three sections, concerning the definitions of terms used in the ordinance, the newly arranged administration of traffic and the enforcement of and obedience to the regulations.

Actually, it's not as imposing as it sounds, because common sense already covers all but a few technical points mentioned throughout the ordinance. Most drivers will be acquainted with much that is described.

Traffic Definitions

The first section of the ordinance contains 37 different definitions about traffic terms, but most of these are for the sake of legal clarity and need not be studied by the layman. There are a handful of them, however, that are interesting.

For instance, what is a vehicle, and especially what is a motor vehicle? The ordinance states that a vehicle is every device by which any person or property is transported upon a highway, except one moved by human power or used only upon stationary rails or tracks.

There are two kinds of motor vehicles — one which is self propelled (your automobile) and one which is propelled by electric power obtained from overhead trolley wires but not operated upon rails. This latter type does not apply to Sedalia, since no such vehicles are operated here.

Another definition which is altogether too seldom observed in Sedalia is that for a stop. According to the ordinance, whenever a stop is required, it means complete cessation of movement. The man who comes almost to a stop at a stop sign, then shifts into second and zooms off is breaking the law.

Another item makes it known that whenever certain hours are mentioned in the ordinance, they mean either standard time or daylight saving time, whichever is then in current use in Sedalia.

A curb loading zone is a space adjacent to a curb reserved for the exclusive use of vehicles during the loading or unloading of passengers or materials.

The last notable definition sets the boundaries for the present central business district in Sedalia: All that area bounded by Main on the north, Broadway on the south, Moniteau on the west and Washington on the east. It may also include any streets or portions of streets on which the city council may authorize the installation of parking meters.

Outside of this district there may be other business districts and, of course, residential districts, but they are not considered legally to be the central business district for purposes of traffic control.

Traffic Administration

The ordinance then turns to the second section, in which it sets up the three main city governmental units of traffic administration — the traffic division of the police department, the city traffic engineer and the traffic commission. Their functions boil down to this:

The police traffic division is to enforce the traffic laws, to keep records of violations and accidents and to study traffic accidents to learn whether they can be remedied. Each year it will make a safety report.

It is worthwhile to note here that this section also contains the stipulation that the police chief can, with the approval of the traffic engineer, enforce temporary or experimental regulations to cover emergencies or special conditions. These regulations are not to last for more than 90 days.

The traffic engineer is the man who will install and maintain the traffic control devices, try to improve continually the city's traffic conditions and analyze accidents to find remedies. At the moment this man is Bill Davis, who is also the city engineer.

The traffic commission serves without pay and helps to coordinate traffic activities, to educate the public about what the regulations are, to supervise the preparation and publication of traffic reports, to receive complaints about traffic matters and to recommend to city officials ways to improve traffic control. Its chairman is appointed by the mayor and at present is Cline Cain.

The commission also includes the traffic engineer, the police chief, the chairman of the city council traffic committee and representatives from the city engineer's office and the city attorney's office, along with representatives from other unofficial bodies as determined by the mayor. At present these consist of representatives of the professions, the churches, the schools, the press and radio, the trucking industry, the Chamber of Commerce and many other sections of community life.

Traffic Enforcement

The third section deals with enforcement of traffic regulations and states that any violation of the requirements in the ordinance shall be a misdemeanor. That means that the person who violates can be punished.

Farther on this section states that anyone using a pushcart or riding an animal shall be subject to all traffic regulations. This also includes bicycles, which are dealt with in another section of the ordinance and which will be discussed in a later article in this series.

Of interest to parents will be the fact no one on roller skates, coaster toy vehicle or similar device is to go into the street except while crossing the street on a crosswalk, and then he must obey the regulations for pedestrians.

Drivers are instructed by the new ordinance to pull to the right side of the road and come to a complete stop when an emergency vehicle signals for the way to be cleared. Examples of an emergency vehicle would be fire engines, police cars and ambulances. The drivers are not to resume the operation of their vehicles until the emergency vehicle has passed.

The last item specified in this section is the reporting of accidents. It is stipulated that the driver of a vehicle involved in an accident resulting in injury or death or property damage of $25 or more must notify the police department immediately, unless a police officer investigates the accident while the driver is still at the scene.

If the driver is physically unable to make such a report, then the occupant of his vehicle must make the report for him. If the driver is no occupant, and if the driver is not the owner of the car, then the owner must make the report within five days after learning about the accident.

(Tomorrow: The much talked about parking restrictions.)

Strauss Says US Still Leads Reds In A-Race

WASHINGTON — Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said today the United States is "making very rapid and satisfactory progress" and continues to lead Russia in the nuclear weapons field.

Asked in a copyrighted interview with the magazine U. S. News and World Report whether this country is "substantially ahead of Soviet Russia" in the atomic arms race, Strauss replied:

"Yes. We started sooner. We have more material to experiment with. We have more facilities. We believe we have more of these very large experimental machines. But, since I can't look behind the Iron Curtain, I can't be absolutely certain. Most importantly, we have a devoted group of free men at work on the problems."

"We are making very rapid and satisfactory progress. In a business which has no competition until and unless you go to war, it's a little dangerous to feel assurance that the progress is satisfactory, but I believe it is."

Strauss said the nation now has about 8½ billion dollars invested in its atomic energy business, and that the present program contemplates spending of about half a billion dollars more on the plant.

"Then," he said, "we will be running along with an operating expenditure of about two billion dollars a year . . . for as long as one can foresee."

Two Diners Return, Hold Up Cafe Owner

CULVER CITY, Calif. — Two men who had dined earlier on $15 steak dinners returned at closing time to a cafe here and took $3,600 at gunpoint. Owner Joseph Petrilli said the men told him:

"We are making very rapid and satisfactory progress. In a business which has no competition until and unless you go to war, it's a little dangerous to feel assurance that the progress is satisfactory, but I believe it is."

Strauss said the nation now has about 8½ billion dollars invested in its atomic energy business, and that the present program contemplates spending of about half a billion dollars more on the plant.

"Then," he said, "we will be running along with an operating expenditure of about two billion dollars a year . . . for as long as one can foresee."
